

MORE POWER – WITH YOU!

Operations Planning Employee (m/f/d)

Smart Battery Solutions GmbH is an innovative company based in Kleinostheim. We develop and produce intelligent battery systems for many applications, such as emergency systems, cordless screwdrivers, medical technology, e-bikes and electric vehicles.

Our repeated achievement as a growth champion in a study by Focus and Statista show that we always think one step ahead.

Choose us and become a part of the future success story of Smart Battery Solutions GmbH together with us!

YOUR TASKS:

- Preparation of long-, medium- and short-term production planning in close cooperation with purchasing and sales teams
- Planning, monitoring and control of the production process, taking into account availability of the material and timely order processing
- Preparation and maintenance of production schedules and material lists
- Planung von Aufträgen und Kommunikation mit den internen Ansprechpartnern im Vertrieb
- Analysis and optimization of processes and procedures to continuously increase efficiency of production (Kaizen / KVP)
- Generating and tracking of production orders, production control and planning
- Monitoring of material availability in cooperation with the procurement and inventory departments
- Clarification of material supply schedule issues in close cooperation with the sales department
- Determine and track key performance indicators (KPIs)

WHAT CAN YOU OFFER:

- Successfully completed technical professional apprenticeship or university degree in the technical field - alternatively administrative background with very good basic technical understanding
- Experience in operational or production planning
- Good understanding of the processes within an ERP system, basic knowledge of SAP
- Good knowledge of the MS-Office applications
- Good command of English
- High degree of responsibility, communication skills and organizational qualities

WHAT DO WE OFFER:

- We offer you excellent development opportunities in a promising growth market
- You will work on exciting and highly varied tasks
- You will gain a broad insight into the company's activities and the associated day-to-day business.
- We offer you many employee benefits, such as free drinks and fresh fruit.
- We are a company with a start-up atmosphere, a "You culture", easy and uncomplicated communication channels and helpful colleagues.

Sounds good to you? - Then become part of our fast-growing company and apply!

Please only send us application documents in pdf format and let us know your salary expectations and earliest possible start date.